CAMELLIAS

All American Camellia Selections

1960-61—BONNIE MARIE, Pat. #1801, C. saluenensis hybrid. (Illus. front cover.) In BONNIE MARIE, is found something more than just another Camellia. We consider it to be one of the finest of new flowering shrubs, and should be considered as such; A NEW FLOWERING SHRUB, exceptionally beautiful as to flower and foliage. Large 4½ to 5 inch phlox pink blooms, of fluted semi-double to anemone form, are set at almost every leaf terminal of the current year's growth. The petals are shaded two tones deeper at the base. This, combined with the lovely "glass-beaded" texture, gives the flower great depth and beauty.

The bloom period starts in mid-November, continuing through mid-April, with a "mass Bloom" period in December through March. The flower is also very weather resistant.

BONNIE MARIE is an upright bushy plant that can stand full sun or shade and can be grown out of doors where temperatures are not normally below 10 degrees, and never lose a bud.

Feature this one as:

1960-61—KINGS RANSOM, P. P. 1800

The Japonica Camellia selection for this season. Thought to be a seedling from "Debutante." The color is the same as "Debutante" but the form is anemone rather than peony. Flower is larger than the supposed parent, up to 5½ inches. Growth is upright but more compact than "Deb," and foliage bright green. Truly a great addition to the ever growing list of TOP Camellia Japonica.
